Over the past several months, FBS has made structural changes to the organization to better align the organizational structure with strategic goals to improve service and efficiency. Some faces are new to the University; others have accepted new and challenging roles within our organization.

Accounts Payable
Accounts Payable as well as Payables Production now reports to Manager Perry Hull with Assistant Managers, Heidi Slack and Judy Chan leading each area, respectively. Heidi Slack has held various roles throughout campus with her most recent experience coming from our own Purchasing Card program. Judy Chan has many Accounts Payable years experience, has been involved in many AP systems implementations, and will bring great knowledge to the Payables Production area.

Research Management & Compliance
As Perry Hull assumed the additional responsibilities of Payables Production, Deb Larson has re-assumed leadership of the Property Accounting department. This change better connects property records and procedures with the Facilities and Administrative (“F&A”) rate study.

Ken Erickson, as Director of the newly formed Research Management & Compliance area, leads the following team of managers formed to provide resources to address many process changes brought about by the PAM implementation.
- Dawn Atterbury, Grants & Contracts Accounting Manager
- Deb Larson, Cost Accounting & Analysis Manager
- Craig Merritt, Manager of Compliance Oversight & Reporting.

Travel Services
Over the last several years, University Travel has grown in both volume and complexity, and to better address growing needs; Darrin Robertson has been made the Travel Services Manager. Darrin reports to Kori Wetsel who has been the Travel Manager for 15 years, and both will work to implement service and system improvements for our campus travel users. Darrin has several years University Travel experience, and has worked within Financial Systems on several FBS system projects. Kori continues to work in coordinating overall FBS efforts in policy development, communications, planning and training.
Travel Cash Advances – Elimination of Travelers Checks

Due to unforeseen changes with American Express Travelers Checks, we are no longer able to distribute travelers checks from the cashier’s window in Income Accounting to assist business travelers in need of a cash advance. Any requests submitted to our office for a cash advance will be distributed directly to the traveler as either an ACH direct deposit or as a physical check, depending upon how the traveler’s Accounts Payable vendor is set up.

Cash advances still require a written explanation as to why the advance is necessary as well as a signature authorizing the advance from the cognizant Vice President. As Policy 3-030 suggests, advances should be issued under unusual circumstances where other options for payment are not feasible.

We are engaged in the design of new Cash Advance procedures using our online Travel System which will clarify the cash advance process, and policy statements will change to reflect the current methods.

If you have any questions about when it is appropriate to issue a cash advance, please review the associated Rule: Travel Cash Advances, R3-030B.

How can Travelers reduce the out-of-pocket burden of their trip expenses?

- Use onsite agents to book cost effective contract or non-refundable tickets using a travel number and chart field.
- Use the PCard to pay for conference registration fees.
- Obtain a Diners Club corporate (personal liability) credit card.
  - 45-day billing cycle offers additional time so reimbursement can be used to pay the bill.
  - Important insurances are included to reduce University risk when renting a car, or in the event luggage is lost.

Accounts Payable Implements New Payment Method

The University has partnered with JP Morgan Chase (JPMC) bank to implement a new payment method referred to as “Single Use Account” (SUA). JPMC invited certain suppliers to participate in this program and 150 suppliers have enrolled to date. These suppliers will receive payment via a virtual credit card number instead of a paper check. This new program only affects the payment mechanism in the overall payment process and therefore will not likely impact the day-to-day way you and your department do things.

As invoices for SUA-enrolled suppliers are processed by Accounts Payable, the University will send payment information to JPMC and also email the supplier. The email sent to the supplier contains payment-specific information which the supplier will use to process the payment we have sent. Funds are available to the vendor as soon as they receive our email.

SUA electronic payments offer both the supplier as well as the University improvements over physical checks:

- SUA payments eliminate the costs associated with production and postage.
- SUA payments are sent directly to the supplier requesting it, eliminating lost or misdirected physical checks and allow for improved payment tracking.
- Supplier has access to funds more quickly.

Handling Code “BC” (Bank Card) will indicate a payment was made using SUA procedures, see example below.

This payment method has been successfully implemented at other higher education institutions across the country, and we expect equal success at the University of Utah.
U of U General Stores:

Have you taken a look at the amazing inventory available at the U of U General Stores website? With thousands of items in stock, it can be hard to make decisions - so the folks at General Stores each gave their favorites:

Janet Alford: The First Aid Kits - after the Utah Shakeout she really saw the value in having at least one First Aid item on hand. (General Stores Item # 201040)

Eric Christensen: All the types of pens - as a driver he likes pens because they are lite and easy to deliver.

JD Allred: Flashlight - because flashlights are just cool.

John Reeve: “Tools, any of them - because you can never have enough tools, they just come in handy.”

MJ Rode: Personal Heaters - because she is always cold without it. (General Stores Item # 511450)

Meegan Drake: Diet Coke - because occasionally everyone needs a pick-me-up. (General Stores Item # 420520)

Katie Fotsch: “I love the Post-its in all the colors we have. My desk and paperwork is covered and color coded with them. The 1.5” x 2” in the bright colors are my personal favorites.” (General Stores Item # 526575)

Are You Using Your PCard?

As we approach the end of FY2014, this is a good time for cardholders and their departments to evaluate PCard usage. We want to encourage PCard payment for non-restricted small dollar purchases as this is a more efficient and preferred method of payment in many instances. We’re happy to have over 2,000 cardholders and find that the average number of transactions has increased so far in FY 2014 by about 2%. But even with more transactions, we’ve found there are several PCards that were not used at all last year.

Because there can be some risk in having unused credit cards, we will be contacting cardholders who have not used the PCard during the last year to ask if there is still a need for them to continue to have a PCard. If cards will be used infrequently or for very small dollar purchases, we may also suggest reducing the limits to match more accurately the activity on the PCard. We want the PCard to be useful and understand there can be a fluctuation in spending patterns. But having a $3,000 transaction limit if your highest purchase has been $500 means a greater exposure to loss should the card be lost/stolen or the account information compromised. Being aware of the activity on your PCard helps keep it secure and functional. The Financial Information Library (FIL) query on PCards is a great tool for reviewing PCard activity. Please let us know if we can help in using this report.

Thank you for using the PCard whenever possible. We want it to be a practical and convenient way to provide for small dollar purchases.

Remember P2P (Procure to Pay)? Click here to read the article from our Spring issue

FBS is currently in the investigative phase of several projects identified during the P2P initiative as ripe opportunities to modernize the customer procurement experience, improve compliance and controls, to add efficiencies and reduce overall non-personnel costs to the University.

We look forward to implementing both system and non-system changes that will improve many steps within the Procure to Pay processes.

More information of the details will follow in the upcoming months.
