Design and layout services for new product include:

1. DESIGN PROGRAMMING. This is the research and decision-making process that identifies the scope of work to be designed. In many cases a sales representative can gather this information to pass onto designers, however, depending on the size, scope or complexity of a project a designer may be called in to participate in programming meetings.

2. FIELD VERIFICATION of facility dimensions, this includes going on site to inspect and measure the space along with updating the customer provided CAD drawings to reflect accurate dimensions, or creating the CAD drawings if they don’t exist.

3. FURNITURE SPACE PLANNING, LAYOUT, and 3D RENDERING, this may include multiple revisions based on customer feedback. Space planning may include preliminary block plans to determine space utilization or may include specific product application and design. Designers ensure that drawings meet all building, electrical and fire codes, and may obtain approval from building department as required.

4. FURNITURE SPECIFICATION, this includes creating parts lists based on the layout of the space, application of CMF, and specification/coordination of electrical/data. This also includes a double check of work to make sure all specifications meet code and match the requested finishes, quantities and sizes on the floor plan. This may also include time to research and present multiple product options as requested. Each time the layout or CMF is revised the specification must also be revised. A proposal is created from final specifications and allows an order to be placed.

5. COLOR, MATERIAL and FINISH (CMF) recommendations. This may include time to research and present multiple options as requested. When a customer’s own material (COM) is selected, a designer must spend time verifying yardage and application of COM along with availability and compatibility on product. Each time colors or finishes are revised by a customer the specification must also be revised.

6. FINAL FLOOR PLANS are created and used for customer sign off and installation, to include furniture layout, electrical/data locations, etc. These may be provided to a customer as a printed copy or electronic PDF format.

Design services required for RECONFIGURATION of existing furniture may include the same services as outlined above and also include:

1. PRODUCT INVENTORY. A designer is required to go out to the existing space and assess/inventory the existing furniture layout and products. A drawing and specification list of the existing furniture layout is required prior to beginning a reconfigure.
   a. If the original design was completed by H/B and we have the drawings/design on file, we will verify the existing layout against the drawings then update the drawings to verify we have an accurate design/layout/count of existing products prior to beginning the new design.
   b. If the original design was not completed by H/B or we don’t have drawings/design on file then we will need to create a new set of drawings that reflect the current furniture layout prior to beginning the new design.

Installation Services: Negotiated based on project.
