

Salary Cap Changes

- 1) The new NIH salary cap, $179,700, is applicable to FY2012 NIH awards with an initial Issue Date on or after December 23, 2011.
- 2) “The New NIH salary cap is effective for awards with an initial Issue Date of December 23, 2011 and beyond. For non-competing awards with an initial Issue Date of December 23, 2011 and beyond, grantees can re-budget. For competing awards issued on/after December 23, 2011, the ICs will revise the award and adjust the current and all future year commitments to apply the new NIH salary cap when applicable.”
- 3) Adjustments WILL NOT be necessary for awards with an initial Issue Date prior to December 23, 2011.
- 4) Awards with an initial Issue Date on or after December 23, 2011 should be charged at the new NIH salary cap, $179,700.
- 5) For new proposal applications and corresponding budgets, institutions should use the new NIH salary cap, $179,700.

For the full NIH guidelines (NOT-OD-12-035), Click Here.

For NIH FY 2012 FAQ, Click Here.